IT IS BETTER TO MARRY THAN TO BURN

The Phillips translation of 1Cor. 1:9 says "It is better for them to be married than to be tortured with unsatisfied desire."

On this valentine day, everybody is talking about love and there is love in the air, I just fell like writing about marriage and people who should be thinking seriously of getting married.

If you are single and long for physical intimacy and sometimes you struggle with your sexuality and you want to be married, it is God's will for you to be married. In fact, if you have those longings and those desires and sometimes your sexuality is a struggle, you don't have the gift that Paul was talking about (i.e. in verse 7-8).

On the other hand, you may be single, completely content, and you don't have a desire to be married; that doesn't mean there is something wrong with you. You can serve the Lord undistracted, this is where the Priests who have sworn to the oath of celibacy come to play. Paul served the Lord to the fullest without getting married because he had this gift.

If you don't have this gift, I believe it is God's plan for you to get married. If you are tortured with unsatisfied desire, it is better to marry. That doesn't mean to go out and marry the first person you think it would be nice to have sex with. We have to take this into the context of all of God's counsel. Marriage should be the highest form of agreement between two people. And we are a triune being: We are a Spirit, you have a soul, we live in a body. To have a successful marriage, there needs to be agreement in all three areas.

Remember the writer of Hebrews 13:4 says "Marriage is honorable in all and the bed undefiled. Whore-mongers and adulterers God will judge."
